Dear Colleagues:

The management of water resources impacts our lives on a daily basis. Technical legal skills and creativity are needed to address water issues in today's complex regulatory environment. Given the existing and new competing demands on our water resources, this Conference is designed to benefit a broad array of professionals.

CLE International has assembled a group of experienced water professionals and lawyers for the 2nd Annual Wyoming Water Law Conference. Any person involved with this all-important resource will benefit from the speakers' experiences and insights.

We look forward to seeing you there.

Program Chairs Kara Brighton concentrates her practice on water and natural resource issues. She has worked for the State of Wyoming on issues related to Nebraska v. Wyoming. She currently represents the Wheatland Irrigation District and, prior to this, she assisted with the North Platte litigation settlement negotiations and implementation of the Settlement Agreement. Harriet M. Hageman previously worked for the State of Wyoming on endangered species, National Forest management and water resources management matters. She has provided counsel on issues relating to Nebraska v. Wyoming and she is a Board Member of the Wyoming Water Association. Thomas J. Davidson recently joined the Denver office of his international firm. He has extensive experience as a litigator in both state and federal environmental law issues affecting Wyoming and the Rocky Mountain states. Prior to joining his firm, he served as Deputy Attorney General, Division of Water and Natural Resources, for the State of Wyoming.	Senator Bill Vasey, Featured Presenter, is a Democrat representing Senate District #11. He is a Member of the Agriculture, Public Lands and Water Resources Committee as well as the Select Water Committee and the Select Committee on Tribal Relations. He is also a Member of the Wyoming Energy Commission. Reed D. Benson has worked in both governmental and private practice as a water attorney. He currently teaches water law as well as other subjects at his University. Prior to that, he spent nine years with WaterWatch of Oregon, a non-profit group working on water resource issues. Mike Besson serves as the Vice-Chairman for the Governance Committee of the Cooperative Agreement for Platte River Research. He has been appointed to represent Wyoming on endangered species issues in the Platte River Basin. Keith Burron emphasizes water, environmental and natural resources law. Previously, he was a Senior Assistant Attorney General for the State of Wyoming. In this position, he represented the Department of Environmental Quality and the State Engineer.	Raymond B. Hunkins has been practicing in Wyoming for over 3 decades. In addition to his environmental law practice, he and his firm give special emphasis to commercial contract consultation as well as commercial litigation in both federal and state courts. He also has an active consulting practice involving construction litigation. Rex E. Johnson concentrates his practice on water related issues. His perspective is unique because he is personally involved in a family-owned farm and ranching operation that depends heavily on both surface and groundwater. Brian C. Shuck formerly served as counsel to the Wyoming State Engineer's Office. He has represented Wyoming on various intrastate and interstate stream issues, FERC re-licensing issues, tribal issues, and as co-counsel on the Big Horn River Adjudication. He also assists clients with real estate, water rights, environmental, federal land and federal Indian law issues. Dale Strickland has over 24 years of experience in ecological research and wildlife management. He serves as the Executive Director of the Platte River Endangered Species Partnership. He and his staff currently are overseeing the implementation of several pilot projects designed to test protocols and provide baseline information for use in evaluating the biological response of the Program's four target species and their habitat. Patrick T. Tyrell handles issues such as filing of water rights for industrial and municipal users, municipal and basin-wide water planning studies and studies related to instream flow matters. He is a past board member and President of the Wyoming Water Association.
Cynthia Lummis, Keynote Speaker, was elected Wyoming State Treasurer in 1998. Prior to this, she served for 14 years in the Wyoming House and Senate, concentrating on natural resource and taxation issues. After completing her tenure in 1994, she chaired Governor-elect Geringer's transition team. She worked in the Governor's office on natural resource issues for 2 years. She has served as the interim Director of the Office of State Lands and Investments and was recently elected Chairwoman of the Western State Treasurers' Association.	Gordon W. "Jeff" Fassett opened his firm after his tenure as the second longest serving State Engineer in Wyoming's history. He was appointed by President George W. Bush as the federal representative and Chairman of the Red River Compact Commission. Mary B. Guthrie is the Executive Director of the Wyoming State Bar. Before this position, she clerked for the Honorable James E. Barrett and worked for the Wyoming Attorney General's office where she successfully represented the state before the U.S. Supreme Court. James R. "Jay" Montgomery has practiced law in Colorado with his firm for over 2 decades. He has served as Special Assistant Attorney General for the State of Wyoming for interstate water matters since 1983. His practice focuses on water rights and water-related environmental law.	Dale Strickland has over 24 years of experience in ecological research and wildlife management.
