

ABC's of Water - No Fee

July 14th 8AM-5PM 8Hrs All Licenses

Is your town, home owners association, restaurant, dude ranch, or whatever other establishment you might be responsible for, a public water system? Many times folks are operating a public water system and have no idea they are or what they are required to do by EPA and DEQ or how to make sure they have the needed resources to operate a compliant system. Come find out what you don't know at the ABC's of water.

WARWS is proud to have Jack Rychecky, Drinking Water Program Manager for USEPA Region VIII, present the basic information concerning the Safe Drinking Water Act, basic requirements, and how to stay out of regulatory trouble.

Lou Harmon, Water and Wastewater Program Manager for Wyoming DEQ will explain what Wyoming requires for permitting and operator certification.

Harriet Hageman, famed Wyoming attorney, will address the basics of water law.

Lunch will be provided. During lunch Andrew Stone from the American Groundwater Trust will speak on "Can Groundwater Protection and Energy Development Co-Exist?"

Carl Brown, a pioneer in rate setting for utilities, will do an extensive training on rate structures, how to do a rate study, how to build public support for setting rates, and how to make sure your system is sustainable.

Don't miss this exceptional training. Mark your calendar for July 14th, and plan on being at the Parkway Plaza in Casper. A continental breakfast will be served at 7:30. Lunch will be provided. We do ask for you to register.

Who should attend? Mayors, council people, Public Works Directors, Home Owners Associations, Clerks, owners/operators of dude ranches, resorts, and anybody that is not on town water.
